

Green Bay Packers (3-1) 41, San Francisco 49ers (1-3) 14
Sunday October 23rd 1960 (at Milwaukee)

Packers Blast San Francisco 41-14, Tie for Lead

GAME RECAP (GREEN BAY PRESS-GAZETTE)

(MILWAUKEE) - The Packers roared into first place in the Western Division on the wings of a rousing 41 to 14 victory over the 49ers in County Stadium Sunday afternoon. Green Bay rolled up five touchdowns and two field goals, plus 455 yards and limited San Francisco to 108 yards and two fourth-down Y.A. Tittle touchdown passes, one a gift. The second largest crowd ever to see the Packers play in Wisconsin, 39,916, turned out for the charming victory, the gate ranking second only to the 40,199 for the Ameche debut here in '55. The Packers needed some help to gain a momentary first-place tie with the Bears. Green Bay, with one less game, has 3-1 and the Bears have 3-1-1, the damaging tie being administered yesterday by the Rams. The Packers' other "friends" were the Lions, who knocked the champion Colts out of the lead. Green Bay crosses into the Eastern Division next Sunday, facing the Steelers in Pittsburgh. Baltimore invades Dallas and the 49ers hope to take out their wrath on the Bears in San Francisco. The Packers were downright murder yesterday. They ripped off a 24 to 0 halftime lead and held the 49ers to no completions in 13 pass attempts and just 16 yards rushing in the first half. It was 27-7 at the close of three quarters. The Bays outscored their lively foes in the last quarter 14-7. All sorts of local "records" fell. It was the first Packer league win in Milwaukee since 1956 and ended an eight-game losing skein here. The Bay point total was the highest scored by the Vince Lombardi-fired club and the highest since '56. The gate was the largest at County Stadium this year placing just above the 39,888 for the Braves' opener. The Packers scored touchdowns on drives of 0, 82, 33, 75 and 85 yards, and Paul Hornung booted field goals of 47, which was the first of the year, and 32 yards...The Bays scored the first two times they had their hands on the ball and finished the first period in command by 14-0. While the 49ers are always dangerous, the Packers grabbed the upper hand quickly and showed no tendency to lose it. Lamar McHan went the route at quarterback and the Bays responded with consistency of attack. He called 44 rushes and 26 passes and kept the 49ers guessing. Rolling to his third straight win behind good protection, McHan hurled a 12-yard touchdown pass to Max McGee and completed 11 out of 24 for 183 yards. Hornung stacked up 23 points - his highest single game output. He counted two touchdowns - both on one-yard flying leaps over the line of scrimmage, booted two field goals and five extra points. Paul's relief, Tom Moore, continued to amaze with two touchdowns. He ripped 12 yards for the first and then skipped three yards through the briar patch for the second. McGee, who scored the other touchdown and finished with five catches

Rah Rah

NATIONAL FOOTBALL LEAGUE
(Eastern Division)

	W	L	T	Pct.	PS	OP
New York	3	0	1	1.000	99	74
Philadelphia	4	1	0	.800	141	132
Cleveland	3	1	0	.750	146	82
Pittsburgh	2	2	1	.500	126	116
Washington	1	1	2	.500	77	85
St. Louis	2	3	0	.400	110	124

(Western Division)

	W	L	T	Pct.	PS	OP
GREEN BAY	3	1	0	.750	118	61
Chicago	3	1	1	.750	109	117
Baltimore	3	2	0	.600	131	89
San Francisco	2	3	0	.400	70	108
Detroit	1	3	0	.250	59	87
Los Angeles	0	4	1	.000	98	145
Dallas	0	5	0	.000	84	148

Sunday's Results

GREEN BAY 41, SAN FRANCISCO 14
Chicago 24, Los Angeles 24
Detroit 30, Baltimore 17
Philadelphia 31, Cleveland 29
Pittsburgh 27, Washington 27
St. Louis 12, Dallas 10

Sunday's Games

GREEN BAY at PITTSBURGH
Chicago at San Francisco
Baltimore at Dallas
Cleveland at Washington
Detroit at Los Angeles
St. Louis at New York
Philadelphia, bye

for 110 yards, made the catch of the day, leaping a couple of feet off the ground between two 49ers to snare a McHan pass on the 49er one and set up the Bays' 34-7 edge. The Packer defense, sparked by Dave Hanner, who was playing his 100th league game (every game starting in 1952, his first year) didn't give John Brodie a chance in the first half. The 49ers scored only two first downs in that period. Tittle handled the second half and hit 15 out of 24 for 108 yards. The 49ers finished with 71 yards rushing and 108 passing...The Bay offense, which now has scored 28, 35 and 41 points in the last three wins, piled up 249 yards on the ground and 206 yards in the air behind a sharp-blocking line. Jim Taylor just missed the magic 100 mark, gaining 98 stripes in 20 carries. Hornung added 72 in 13 and Moore 49 in 8. McGee nailed five passes for 110 yards. The Bays shackled themselves with 117 yards in 11 penalties. It was obvious in the first quarter that the two-week layoff didn't hurt the Packers. The 49ers took the opening kickoff and received a fine break after punting. Willie Wood fumbled the boot and the 49ers recovered on the Packer 23. The Bay defense was equal to the task, forcing a Tommy Davis field goal try from the 34 - a miss. The Bays promptly went 80 yards in 10 plays for a 7-0 edge. Taylor went 32 for the big gain and then the 49ers were called for interference when Woodson grabbed McGee's arm. A 13-yard run by Taylor, a 10-yard McHan to Hornung pass and short runs, including the final leap by Hornung, brought the first TD. The Packer defense liked the offense's work. The "stop" unit quickly forced a punt and this time the Bays went 82 yards in 11 plays for a 14-0 edge. McGee made a fine catch of a low throw for a 30-yard gain to put the Bays at midfield but the Bays soon had to punt on a fourth down and two-to-go situation...The 49ers figured the Bays might go for it, and didn't have their punting group real ready. They couldn't get all their men off the field and were penalized, giving the Bays a first down - thank you. Woodson interfered with McGee again, putting the ball on the 19. From there, Taylor made seven in two tries and McHan hit McGee on a slant-in pass for the touchdown. Hornung tried two field goals early in the second quarter and missed the first from the 37 and made the second from the 47 for a 17-0 edge. After Davis and Dowler exchanged punts, Em Tunnell and Dan Currie collaborated on an interception to set up the 24-0 lead. Tunnell tipped up Brodie's pass to Currie who snared the welcome pigskin on the 50 and fullbacked to the 49er 33. The Bays scored in four plays. On Play 2, McHan firmed to McGee for 21 yards to the 12 and on Play 4 Moore, who had just replaced Hornung, sizzled around right end and zoomed into the end zone just inside the red flag for a 24-0 edge. The Packers took the second half kickoff into a 27-0 edge. Taylor's 14-yard run and McHan's 20-yard pass to Dowler set up the Hornung field goal from the 32...John Symank recovered a fumble by Owens, but the Bays couldn't gain and punted. Dowler's boot rolled near the goal line and Dick Pesonen made a good play in downing the ball on the two. From that point, Tittle led the 49ers to a touchdown. Two 15-yard penalties made the way easier for the 49ers, and the other yardage came on short passes. On fourth down, Tittle was chased to his right and the receivers wandered around. He finally sailed a seven-yard pass just behind the goal posts to Smith. It was amazing the ball didn't hit the posts. Davis kicked the first of two extra points. The Packers ripped right back to make it 34-7 with 55 seconds gone in the fourth quarter, moving 75 yards in nine plays. A 38-yard step-away run by Hornung to the 49er 37 and a 30-yard McHan to McGee pass ate up most of the yardage. Woodson tipped the ball and McGee caught it. On the third play of the last quarter, McGee made his leaper to the one and then Hornung leaped over. After an exchange of punts, the 49ers went on a touchdown drive, with Tittle completing three passes. On fourth down from the Packer five, Tittle's pass to Owen was trapped off the ground by the touchdown was allowed for a 34-14 score...In a parting offensive gesture, the Bays rolled 85 yards in nine plays for the last TD. On Play 2, Moore went 10 yards and then Lew Carpenter took over. On Play 5, he took a pass from McHan for 21 yards and on the next play Carpenter went 24 on a double reverse, with McHan putting down a block on Lenny Lyles that almost doubled Carpenter's gain to the 24. Moore scored on three straight runs. He went 16 up the middle, then 5 and finally 3 for the TD.

SAN FRANCISCO - 0 0 7 7 - 14
GREEN BAY - 14 10 3 14 - 41

Cleveland's Brown Slips Past Taylor For Rushing Lead

Fullback Jim Taylor of the Packers lost his National Football League rushing lead Sunday to Cleveland Brown fullback Jim Brown, who has the overland title the last three seasons.

Taylor went into the game with the 49ers with a total of 265 yards in three contests and added another 98 in the Packers' 41-14 victory for a total of 379.

But Brown scampered for 167 as the Browns were upset, 31-29, by the Philadelphia Eagles and now has a total of 432 yards. Each man has been in four games.

Press-Gazette Color By Lowell Georgia

"He Floats Through the Air" — Paul Hornung (5) leaps over the line of scrimmage from one yard out for the Packers' first touchdown in their 41-14 victory over the 49ers in County Stadium Sunday.

Hornung made a similar leap for his second TD in the fourth quarter. Other Packers are Lamar McHan (17), Jim Ringo (51), Forrest Gregg (75) and Jim Taylor (31). The 49ers include Dan Colchico (86), Henry Schmidt (74) and Gordon Kelley. A near record crowd of 39,916 saw Packers post their third win and move into tie for first place in Western Division.

	SAN FRANCISCO	GREEN BAY
First Downs	14	27
Rushing-Yards-TD	26-71-0	44-249-4
Att-Comp-Yd-TD-Int	37-15-102-2-1	26-12-206-1-0
Sack Yards Lost	16	0
Total Yards	163	455
Fumbles-lost	1-1	1-1
Turnovers	2	1
Yards penalized	5-71	11-117

SCORING

- 1st - GB - Paul Hornung, 1-yard run (Hornung kick) GREEN BAY 7-0
- 1st - GB - Max McGee, 12-yard pass from Lamar McHan (Hornung kick) GREEN BAY 14-0
- 2nd - GB - Hornung, 47-yard field goal GREEN BAY 17-0
- 2nd - GB - Tom Moore, 12-yard run (Hornung kick) GREEN BAY 24-0
- 3rd - GB - Hornung, 32-yard field goal GREEN BAY 27-0
- 3rd - SF - J.D.Smith, 8-yard pass from Y.A. Tittle (Tommy Davis kick) GREEN BAY 27-7
- 4th - GB - Hornung, 1-yard run (Hornung kick) GREEN BAY 34-7
- 4th - SF - R.C. Owens, 5-yard pass from Tittle (Davis kick) GREEN BAY 34-14
- 4th - GB - Moore, 3-yard run (Hornung kick) GREEN BAY 41-14

RUSHING

GREEN BAY - Jim Taylor 20-98, Paul Hornung 13-72 2 TD, Tom Moore 8-49 2 TD, Lew Carpenter 1-24, Larry Hickman 1-4, Lamar McHan 1-2

SAN FRANCISCO - J.D. Smith 10-40, Hugh McElhenny 13-22, Joe Perry 3-9

PASSING

GREEN BAY - Lamar McHan 24-11-183 1 TD, Paul Hornung 2-1-23

SAN FRANCISCO - Y.A Tittle 24-15-108 2 TD, John Brodie 13-0-0 1 INT

RECEIVING

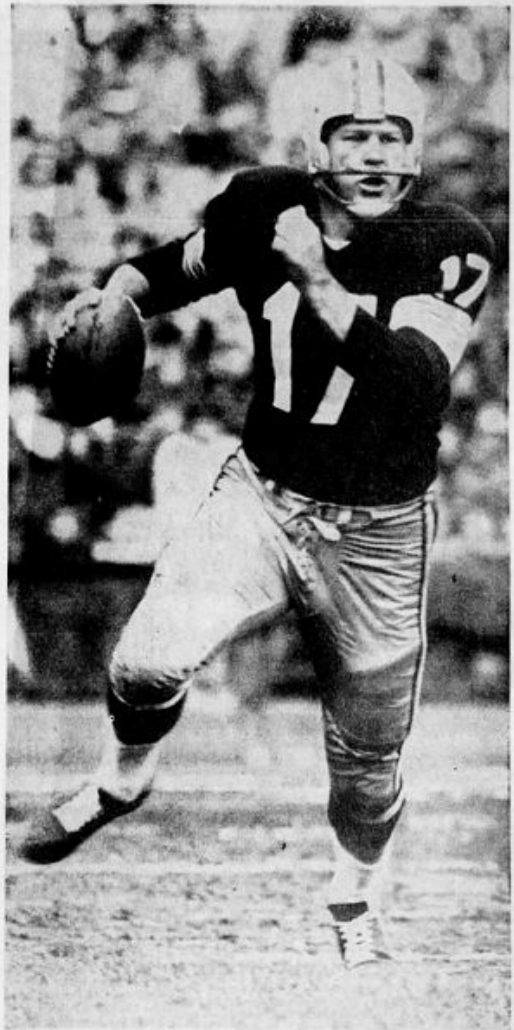

GREEN BAY - Max McGee 5-110 1 TD, Boyd Dowler 2-21, Steve Meilinger 1-23, Lew Carpenter 1-21, Ron Kramer 1-12, Paul Hornung 1-10, Jim Taylor 1-9

SAN FRANCISCO - J.D. Smith 5-23 1 TD, R.C. Owens 4-35 1 TD, Clyde Conner 3-32, Monty Stickles 3-18

Green Bay Packers halfback Paul Hornung scores a touchdown against the San Francisco 49ers on Oct. 23, 1960, in Milwaukee. (ASSOCIATED PRESS ARCHIVES)

'Ran and Passed Together
For the First Time,' Vince

Wasted Effort — Lamar McHan, Packer quarterback, heads for the sideline after being badly rushed on a pass play in final period. Seconds later McHan threw to Gary Knafelc for a 12 yard gain, but the play was nullified by a holding penalty. (Press-Gazette Photo)

"RAN AND PASSED TOGETHER FOR THE FIRST TIME,' VINCE

OCT 24 (Milwaukee-Green Bay Press-Gazette) - With a simultaneous bow to the defense, Vince Lombardi termed the Packers' sabbath slaughter of the San Francisco 49ers at County Stadium a triumph of tactical togetherness. "It's the first time we've run and passed together," the NFL's reigning coach of the year said with evident satisfaction while holding forth in a relatively quiet corner of a noisy dressing room. "It would have to be the best game we've played." "And our passing record could have even been better," he pointed out. "We had a couple of them dropped and a couple of others called back or heaven knows what it might have been. Certainly, it was our best offensive game." The defense complemented this show of force admirably, Vince added. "Except for a couple of lapses in the second half, we did a great job defensively. Of course, we've been doing a good job there all season - I think we've played as well defensively in some of our other games." This prompted him to observe, in "defense" of the defense, that the 49ers should have emerged with only 7 points. "I think that ball was trapped on their second touchdown (a Y.A. Tittle pass that R.C. Owens clutched in a diving slide into the end zone in the fourth quarter). Our rush was tremendous," he said. "We got a great rush on Brodie (John, the 49ers' starting quarterback) in the first half." Turning to the weather, Lombardi noted. "That wind was brutal out there today. McHan is not a driving passer, you know. He lays it out there - and the wind was playing tricks with his throws." That two-week layoff could not have been particularly enervating, it was ventured. Vince grinned broadly and admitted, "Yes, the rest certainly didn't hurt us, I'll have to say that." He next paid high tribute to Forrest Gregg, the Packers' brilliant right offensive tackle. "His block on Moore's touchdown run in the second quarter was the greatest I've ever seen," Lombardi declared. "He just obliterated that linebacker. That Moore can run, too." Had the hard hitting rookie from Vanderbilt earned more regular employment. "Yes, Moore will be playing more, depending of course on the game situations," Vince replied. "It's always nice to have a fresh man to go in there." He was quick to point out, however, "that Hornung is a great threat - he can throw and kick as well as run. He certainly ran well today. Moore is a helluva runner, too. McHan (Lamar) did a real fine job of calling the plays, too, a really excellent job," Lombardi asserted. Veteran defensive halfback John Symank had been the Bays' only casualty, he disclosed. "He got a pretty good smack in the head," Vince said, "but I think he'll be all right - we'll know better later. He got hit by a pretty big guy (6-5, 240-pound Monte Stickles), you know." Had there been any disappointments on this largely delightful day? "We're still dropping the ball, that was disappointing. In a little closer game, it might have been different." At the same time, he felt "McGee (Max) made some great catches, I thought." "We're still getting penalties, too," Vince observed. "and it's going to murder us one of these days, as sure as I'm sitting here." What did he think it would take to win the Western Division? "A lot of wins," he chuckled. "We've only played four games with eight to go. We still have to win - we have to beat Pittsburgh, we have to beat Baltimore, we have to beat Dallas, we have to beat Los Angeles. Any loss to anybody is going to push you out." Somebody interposed "Hickey (49er coach Red) said he didn't see how you could lost four games." ...GET PITTSBURGH NEXT: "That's very nice of Hickey," Vince said dryly. "I have no comment on that.

Oilers Whip Titans, Grab 2-Tilt Lead

Blanda Houston Ace; Denver Wins

AMERICAN FOOTBALL LEAGUE (Eastern Division)

	W	L	T	Pct.	PS	OP
Houston	5	1	0	.833	177	123
New York	4	3	0	.571	182	172
Boston	2	4	0	.333	111	108
Buffalo	2	4	0	.333	98	104

(Western Division)

	W	L	T	Pct.	PS	OP
Denver	4	2	0	.667	145	120
Los Angeles	3	3	0	.500	96	139
Oakland	3	4	0	.429	122	186
Dallas	2	4	0	.333	135	114

Sunday's Results

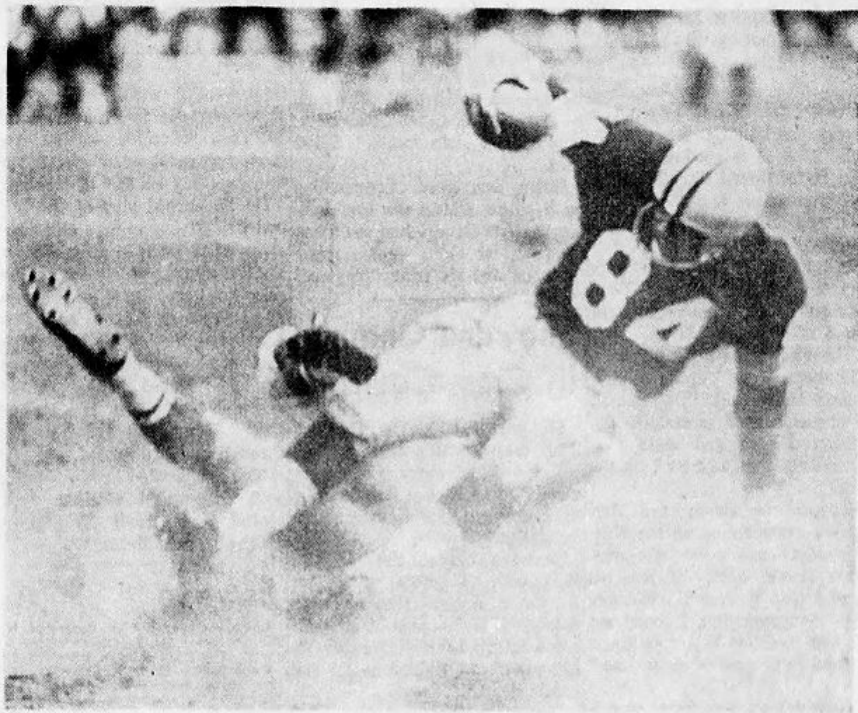

Denver 31, Boston 24.
Houston 42, New York 29.
Buffalo, 38, Oakland 9.

Friday Night's Games

Los Angeles at Boston.
Oakland at New York.

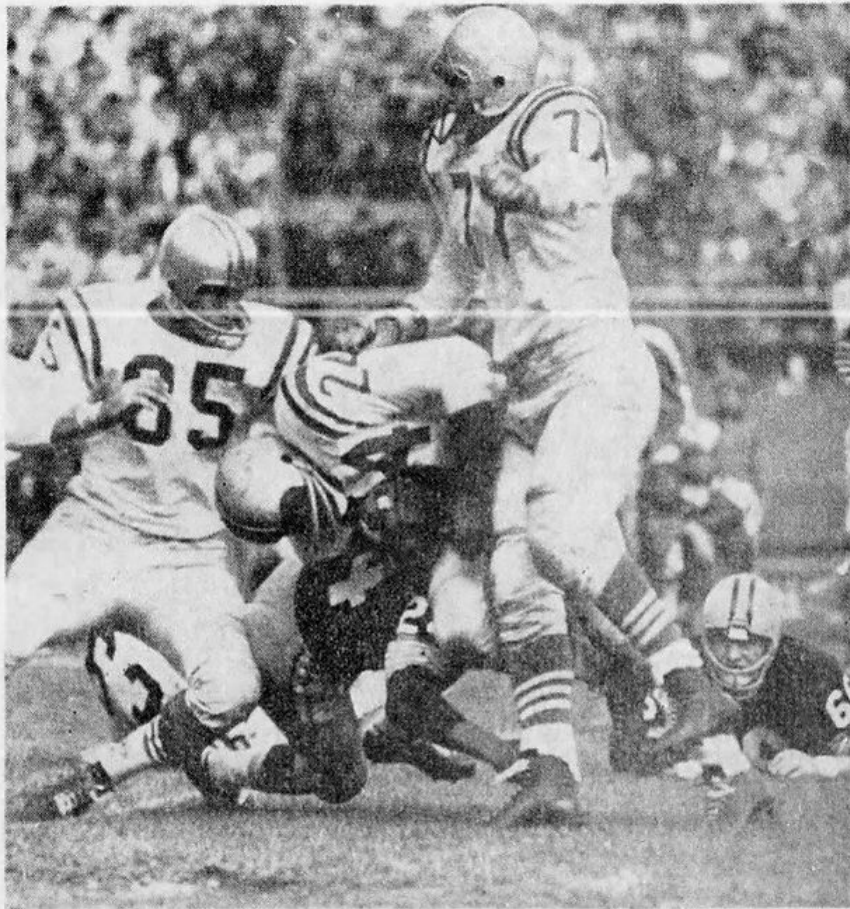

Sunday's Games

Houston at Buffalo.
Dallas at Denver.

'Safe at Third' — Packers' Gary Knafele "slides" into third base on infield of County Stadium after snaring desperation pass from Lamar McHan for 12-yard gain in fourth quarter. His effort went for naught, however. Play was nullified by holding penalty. (Press-Gazette Photo)

'Sorry, Right Number'—Packers' Willie Wood (24) derails his opposite San Francisco number, J. D. Smith (24) in fourth quarter. Wood's welcome grounded Smith after he had taken 9-yard pass from Y. A. Tittle. Fallen Packer behind them is Ray Nitschke (66). Smith's 49er 'assistants' are Monty Stickles (85) and Bruce Bosley (77). (Press-Gazette Photo)

All I know is that we're going to be partially in first place, depending on what the Bears do, and that's good enough for me." He paused for further deliberations, then appended, "If the Bears lose today (alas, they didn't) and the Colts lose another, maybe 8-4 will win it. All I know right now is we get Pittsburgh next," he summed up with a smile, "and they're a hardnosed ball club."...Hickey, morosely studying the floor in the 49er dressing room at the other end of the stadium, minced no words. "They just beat the hell out of us in every department," he rapped. "They've got a great ball club." But surely not yet in a class with the world champion Baltimore Colts? "They beat 'em didn't they? You damned right they're in the Colts' class." How about his 49ers? "We just weren't ready to go to battle that first half," Red said in a low voice. "The Packers came out there ready to play and we weren't ready to battle until halftime." "They're just a well balanced ball club, strong both offensively and defensively," Hickey declared. "If they have a weakness, we don't know where it is. We couldn't move the ball on them and they took it and jammed it down our throats." Any injuries? "Dee Mackey got a concussion - on the first play of the game. Outside of that, I don't think we have anything except some hard feelings," Red said wryly. "We didn't hit anybody hard enough to get hurt." What about the Western Division race? "I think a 9-and-3 record will win it - because I can't see the packers losing four games."...VIVA FOR VINCE: Lombardi was presented with an oil portrait of himself for winning NFL coach of the year honors in 1959 in a pregame ceremony, presided over by George Dehmel, governor of Milwaukee Moose Lodge No. 49. "Through your efforts, the Green Bay Packers have been developed from a second division team into a contender for the world championship," Dehmel said in making the presentation. "You and your team have provided the entire nation with a sparkling brand of football which has furnished interesting entertainment. But more important, it is our belief that you have contributed much to the youth of our country," he went on. "These young people are 'hero worshippers' and try to emulate their heroes, thus causing them to place themselves in training which results in the building of strong bodies and healthy active minds. This means much in assuring us that our citizens of tomorrow will be prepared to carry on the leadership of not only our nation, but that of the entire world."...BENCH STRENGTH: The Packers had a pair of prominent "pinch hitters" riding their bench - the Braves' Henry Aaron, the National League's 1960 runs batted in leader, and teammate Eddie Mathews, runnerup in that all-important competition...HONORED GUEST: Dr. H.S. Atkinson, the Packers' team physician for 15 years until his resignation at the start of the current season, also was a guest on the Packer bench, his first visit of the year...FAMILY AFFAIR: Jack Cvercko, brother of Packer guard Andy Cvercko, yesterday got his first-in-the-flesh look at his big brother since he joined the pro ranks in 1959. Jack, taller and lighter than Andy (he's 215), has won a starting tackle berth with Ara Parseghian's Northwestern Wildcats as a sophomore.

'SHOULD HAVE GONE ALL THE WAY,' HORNUNG

OCT 24 (Milwaukee-Green Bay Press-Gazette) - Some people are never satisfied. Handsome Paul Hornung, who had just completed his most productive day as a pro, grunted, "I should have gone all the way on that one in the third quarter." The towheaded Notre Dame alumnus, who emerged from the Packers' 41-14 romp with a 23-point windfall, had reference to his 37-yard excursion abruptly ended by Eddie Dove on San Francisco's 37 just when it appeared he might be away. "I guess you just can't get those tanks in second gear," he grinned. His two touchdown "flights" over the startled 49ers' defensive wall from two yards out had elicited even more comment in the Packer dressing room. "There was pretty good blocking up there," he smiled. "I could have walked in, actually." What about those field goals? Hadn't that 47-yarder come against the wind? "Yes, it was. That wind was tricky today. I couldn't get a good kick with the wind all day and yet I did all right against it." Nearby, Tom Moore revealed Coach Vince Lombardi had "called" his 12-yard touchdown run in the second quarter. "And it was wide open," the talented freshman said with a smile. "It was a walk-in." "That second one in the last quarter came a couple of yards at a time, though," he confessed. "Not even that sometimes. I had some good holes, though, and sometimes there were two or three guys in front of me downfield. It's really a good line to run behind." Jim Taylor, another big weapon in the Packers' arsenal this wind-swept day, said he was surprised to find the 49ers "weren't coming as hard as they usually do. We thought they would really come storming." Taylor, who had piled up 98 yards during the course of the afternoon, was still shaking his head over a recent discovery. "I didn't think I had 20 carries, 20 carries," he said, repeating it for emphasis. "It sure didn't seem like it." Lew Carpenter, a key figure in the Pack's surge to the fifth and final touchdown, felt, "We probably made a lot of mistakes today, but, all in all, we must have played a pretty sound game. We caught those passes when we needed 'em." Across the way, affable Hank Jordan was calling congratulation down the line to quarterback Lamar McHan. "Hey, Lamar, you played a helluva game today," he declared. "You sure had 'em guessing." Back on the other side of the room, a still groggy Johnny Symank stared foggily into his locker, attempting to shake the cobwebs acquired in a collision with the 49ers' huge Monty Stickles. "I picked up Stickles as he caught the ball as best I can remember," John explained. "Then the lights went out."...In the quiet, somber San Francisco dressing room, veteran Joe Perry said softly, "They were the superior team today. They played a helluva game." He was not as charitable to himself and his colleagues. Perry, in his 14th season with the 49ers, insisted, "We played our worst game since I've been with the team." McHan, he felt, "looked very good. He was pinpointing his passes. Most of his receivers had only one step," Joe the Jet noted, "so he had to pinpoint them. But everything was going right for the Packers today - that's what happens when things are going right. It's been a long trip," said Joe wearily, recalling last week's 27-10 loss to the Bears following an opening victory over Detroit. "They always are when you lose."

McGee Spectacular—Max McGee comes up with one of the offensive gems of the day, a spectacular catch of a pass from McHan on the 40er half-yard line in the final period. Maxie rolled out of bounds with the ball and on the next play Paul Hornung vaulted over for a Packer score. Vainly trying to break up the play are 49ers Abe Woodson (40) and Eddie Dove (44). (Press-Gazette Photo).

Pack Bench Power Revealed in 49er Rout

PACK BENCH POWER REVEALED IN 49ER ROUT

OCT 25 (Green Bay Press-Gazette) - The Packers acquired many things in Milwaukee Sunday. Red Hickey, coach of the beaten 49ers, called the Bays "a real contender;" the Packer aerial attack started to click; the Packers rolled up 455 yards; the defense was murder; etc. There was one other note of happiness and it might be termed "The Old Rugged Bench." Coach Vince Lombardi admitted today that "it's better than last year." He mused over a few names, "Meilinger, Carpenter, Masters, Ron Kramer, Wood," and then halted with a big grin, adding: "And Moore." The last named, young Tom Moore, is probably the first rookie benchman who ever scored four touchdowns in his first four games. The hard-hitting and fleet Vanderbilt buzz saw goes in when Paul Hornung needs a rest for a field goal. Moore replaced Hornung twice Sunday, both in field goal territory. He went in the first time on a third and 11 situation on the 49er 30. There was no gain and Hornung re-entered to try a field goal from the 7, missing. The next time the Bays were on the 49er 12 with second down. Moore replaced Hornung (not for a FG this time), and whipped around right end for a TD. With time running out, Moore and Larry Hickman, who plays behind Jim Taylor, took over as running backs and the Bays went 85 yards in nine plays for a touchdown, with Moore cracking over from the three for the TD. In that unit were three "new" ends - Steve Meilinger, Lewie Carpenter and Ron Kramer, who had taken over at times during the game for Max McGee, Gary Knafelc and Boyd Dowler. Masters saw some action at both tackles and Andy Cvercko worked both guard, getting in on one of the touchdowns. Jim Temp, Ken Beck and Ray Nitschke and Wood worked into the defense unit. Just about all of the bench people see some action on the various platoons. The kickoff team, for instance, has

(from left to right) Dale Hackbart, Paul

Winslow, Beck, Wood, Masters, Hornung, Nitschke, Cvercko, Dick Pesonen, Ken Iman and Willie Davis. Hornung and Davis are the only full-timers. Pesonen, by the way, got in on four tackles on 49er kickoff returns...STARR SAVES POINT: The Packers have a key performer on the bench these days. That would be Bart Starr, who at the moment is quarterback-in-readiness. Starr didn't get in Sunday, other than to hold the ball on extra points and field goals. He actually saved the point. On the Bays' fourth touchdown, the pass back from center Jim Ringo was a trifle high. Starr made a quick reach, a faster set-down, and Hornung got it off. Paul patted Bart for his quick work as they went off the field. Quarterback Lamar McHan did an excellent job Sunday and Lombardi was the first to compliment him. Vince bases his QB on the won-lost column. "McHan has been winning and he'll be the quarterback," Lombardi said yesterday. He added quickly: "That doesn't mean that Starr can't win, though." Starr started the season against the Bears and the Bays lost 17-14. While Bart ran into some cruel breaks, the final score was decided. McHan started the next Sunday and the Bays beat Detroit. He now has presided at three straight...And speaking of quarterbacks, an AP dispatch from Pittsburgh said today that Bobby Layne is continuing to nurse a stoved right thumb. It added that Steeler officials said it is too early to determine whether Layne will be ready for Sunday's game against the Packers in Forbes Field. The Packers are operating on the theory that Layne will be ready. He kicked two field goals in the tie with the revitalized Redskins last Sunday...The Packers went back to work today in high mental and physical spirits. Forrest Gregg has a sore jaw, and John Symank is feeling fine. John was kicked in the head late in the fourth quarter and sat out the rest of the game. Symank was wearing a Kennedy skimmer when he got off the bus in Green Bay Sunday night...Representatives of Life and Look magazines were at practice today, and there's a possibility both will do stories on Lombardi and the Pack.

Stadium Carry-Ins Before Committee

The City Council health and welfare committee tonight will have the assignment of disposing of a proposed ordinance to forbid carrying of beer and liquor into City Stadium by spectators.

The subject was sent to the committee by the Council Oct. 18 after the Council unanimously turned aside a split committee report for the ordinance. The ordinance was proposed by several aldermen because of throwing of beer cans at the Oct. 9 Packers-Baltimore game.

Dave Smith Still Tops AFL Rushing For Seventh Week

DALLAS, Tex. (AP)—Houston's Dave Smith, for the seventh straight week, leads the American Football League in rushing.

The 204-pound fullback from Greendale, Wis., has carried 73 times for 304 yards and a 4.2 average. Alan Miller of Boston, with 265 yards on 47 carries and a 5.7 average, is second.

George Blanda, the passing and kicking specialist for Houston, retained his scoring lead. The Oiler quarterback has racked up 69 points on four touchdowns, 21 extra points and eight field goals.

Gene Mingo of Denver is second with 55 points.

GROUND GAINERS

	Att	pts.	YG	Ave.
Brown, Cleveland	72	432	6.0
Crow, St. Louis	68	384	5.6
Taylor, Green Bay	63	379	4.6
Peaks, Philadelphia	64	351	5.5
Mitchell, Cleveland	53	289	5.5
Smith, San Francisco	67	280	4.2
Hornung, Green Bay	53	276	5.2
Tracy, Pittsburgh	78	270	3.5
Casares, Chicago	89	267	3.0
McElhenny, San Fran.	75	255	3.4

LEADING PASSERS

	Att.	Comp.	YG	Pct.C.	AGY
Plum, Cleveland	55	41	770	74.5	1400
V'Brocklin, Phil.	121	70	1074	57.9	8.88
Unitas, Balt.	156	79	1184	50.6	7.59
G'lielmi, Wash.	62	42	654	67.7	10.55
Layne, Pitts.	78	45	825	57.7	10.53
Shaw, N. Y.	70	38	617	54.3	8.81
LeBaron, Dal.	124	58	1014	46.8	8.18
Tittle, San. Fr.	107	60	616	56.1	5.96
Bratkowski, Chi.	88	44	606	50.0	6.89
Wade, Los Ang.	67	39	434	58.2	6.48
Min'ski, Detroit	93	45	582	48.4	6.26
McHan, Gr. Bay	53	24	378	45.3	7.13

(Standings based on Completions, Yards Gained, Touchdown Passes, Percent Completions, Percent Interceptions, Average Gain Yards.)

PASS RECEIVERS

	Rec'd	YG	TDs
Barry, Baltimore	32	530	3
Dewveall, Chicago	25	457	2
Rote, New York	23	359	5
Retziaff, Philadelphia	21	382	3
Randle, St. Louis	21	304	3
Dial, Pittsburgh	20	493	5
Stickles, San Francisco	18	204	0
Smith, San Francisco	17	77	1
Phillips, Los Angeles	16	257	1
Mitchell, Cleveland	16	222	3

LEADING SCORERS

	TD	PAT	FG	TP
Hornung, Green Bay	5	16	2	52
Walston, Philadelphia	3	18	5	51
Mitchell, Cleveland	8	0	0	48
Moore, Baltimore	7	0	0	42
Crow, St. Louis	6	0	0	36
Baker, Cleveland	0	17	5	32
Dial, Pittsburgh	5	0	0	30
Rote, New York	5	0	0	30
Taylor, Green Bay	5	0	0	30
Tracy, Pittsburgh	5	0	0	30

LEADING PUNTERS

	No.	A.D.	L'gest
V'Brocklin, Phil.	19	46.4	60
Green, Pittsburgh	27	46.2	68
Lary, Detroit	23	45.4	57
Baker, Cleveland	18	44.8	58
Norton, St. Louis	18	44.7	62
Davis, San Francisco	19	43.8	59
Shofner, Los Angeles	29	43.4	63
Sherer, Dallas	23	42.8	67
McGee, Green Bay	8	41.9	53
Brown, Chicago	18	41.3	62

PUNT RETURNERS

	No.	YR	AD	Lgt.
Butler, Dallas	7	104	14.9	46
West, St. Louis	5	58	11.6	36
Woodson, San Fran.	9	99	9.9	34
Carpenter, P. Pitts.	6	59	9.8	12
Shofner, Cleveland	5	46	9.2	25
Carpenter, L., Gr. Bay	4	28	7.0	11
James, Washington	4	28	7.0	20
Stacy, St. Louis	7	46	6.6	24
Barr, Detroit	4	21	5.3	11
Sample, Baltimore	5	21	4.2	12

KICKOFF RETURNERS

	No.	YR	AD	Lgt.
Sample, Baltimore	6	258	43.0	94
Moore, Green Bay	5	178	35.6	55
Mitchell, Cleveland	5	176	35.2	90
Conrad, St. Louis	8	252	31.5	65
Brown, Philadelphia	7	217	31.0	79
West, St. Louis	11	309	28.1	87
Bivens, Chicago	9	234	26.0	45
Arnett, Los Angeles	10	258	25.8	43
Symank, Green Bay	4	103	25.8	32
James, Washington	6	153	25.5	33

INTERCEPTION LEADERS

	No.	YR	L'gest
Nelson, Baltimore	5	43	22
Burroughs, Philadelphia	4	63	25
Moegle, Pittsburgh	4	18	9
Weber, Philadelphia	4	34	13
Boyd, Baltimore	3	34	21
Britt, Los Angeles	3	84	73
Fleming, Cleveland	3	44	30
Parrish, Cleveland	3	69	34
Shinnick, Baltimore	3	21	11

49ERS' FOURTH DOWN TDS ITEMS OF IRONY

OCT 25 (Green Bay Press-Gazette) - There were two items of irony in the Packers' steaming 41 to 14 victory over the 49ers in Milwaukee Sunday. They were (1) the 49ers' first touchdown and (2) the 49ers' second touchdown. San Francisco was just two fourth down passes away from being shutout. "You'd have to say that we almost shut them out," said the Packers' defense coach, Phil Bengtson, who added: "It would have been nice." Having spent eight years in San Franciscoville as a 49er aide, Bengtson is probably tagged as a "black cat" around the 49er practice quarters. Phil has now experienced four victories over the Gold Diggers since joining the Lombardi firm. With a fat lead, the Packers really didn't begrudge the 49ers some solace. As it turns out, the Bays are still best in the league in points allowed, 61, and average, 15, but take those two fourth down TDs out of there and you have 47 and 11.7. Both teedees were spectacular for various reasons. The Packers were in front 27-0 late in the third quarter when the 49ers scored their first seven-pointer. It's a fourth down and goal to go on the Packer 7. Y.A. Tittle drifted out of the pocket and toward his right. He danced backward and circled around the 20-yard line and finally let loose. He threw it right at the goal posts - as well as the cross bar and J.D. Smith was waiting aside the upright like an official ready to give a signal on a field goal. The ball dipped under the crossbar and Starr caught it for a TD. Tittle had to get credit for terrific evasive action but, gracious, how did he ever miss the post from 20 yards after throwing right at it. That didn't bother the Pack although it must have alarmed some of the Bayers because the 49ers had beaten the Lions two weeks previous on the same kind of garbage pass. There was time yet for the 49ers, what with 3:11 left in the third period and the entire fourth canto. The no-panic Packers took the next kickoff and moved 75 yards in nine plays to get the TD back. Now for that second TD. Tittle has the team on the Packer 5 and it's fourth down and six to go after Jesse Whittenton broke up a pass to Clyde Conner. Tittle hurled a low pass to R.C. Owens, who is known for his leaping ability. This time Alley Oop dug it out of the end zone in a beautiful trap play. It was a ruled touchdown and there were some catcalls. The Packers, ahead 34-14 with a few minutes left, didn't complain. Coach Vince Lombardi saw the "catch" and quickly turned his head toward the Bays' offensive head toward the Bays' offensive team, which was waiting to take over the ball. It never occurred to Vince that it was six. Fortunately, the game was lopsided. There might have been a "scene." Speaking about defense, the Packers actually held the 49ers yardless in the first half - a most remarkable feat. The visitors didn't gain any yards by passing in the opening two periods as John Brodie went zero for 13. They picked up 16 yards by rushing, but lost 16 yards attempting to pass. So one 16 cancels out the other 16. Actually, it doesn't work that way, but the 16 yards the 49ers went ahead by rushing they went back 16 by passing. Anyhow...happy victory!

HORNUNG VAULTS INTO NFL POINT LEAD; TAYLOR THIRD

OCT 26 (Green Bay Press-Gazette) - Jim Taylor and Paul Hornung are continuing their teeter totter act with NFL statistics. When one's up, the other's down. This week. Taylor is down in third place in rushing while Hornung is on top in scoring. A week ago, Taylor was first and Hornung was fifth. Hit-and-Run James picked up 98 stripes against the 49ers last Sunday, but Jim Brown of the Browns and John Crow of the Cards waxed hotter and both passed him. Brown, who counted 167 yards in the Browns' loss, has 432; Crow 384, and Taylor 379. Hornung rolled up 23 yards vs. 'Frisco on two touchdowns, two field goals and five extra points to raise his four-game total to 52 - one ahead of Bobby Walston of Philadelphia. Bob Mitchell of Cleveland is third with 48. Taylor made the big board with his 30 points. Hornung also is on the rushing ride. He ranks seventh with 276 yards in 53 attempts. He's averaging 5 yards per, Taylor 4.6. The Bays had a new name on the board today. That would be quarterback Lamar McHan, who ranks 12th among the passers. Twelfth would seem a bit low for a club with a 3-1 record, but the Bays have tone down their aerial possibilities some. The Packers have thrown only 82 passes in four games, which is second lowest in the league. The Browns have thrown less, 68. McHan has completed 24 out of 53 passes for 378 yards, three touchdowns, just two interceptions, and an average gain of 7.13 per attempt. However, as a comparison, it's interesting to note that the Browns have the league's top passer, Milt Plum. He has completed an amazing 74.5 percent on 41 out of 55 for six touchdowns, 770 yards and no interceptions. His average gain is

Hornung Vaults Into NFL Point Lead; Taylor Third

Six-Packs at the Packer Games

The boys are going to be allowed to carry their beer into the stadium for the remaining game on the Packer schedule in Green Bay this year, but they have had their warning and they may as well write it down that what happens to this privilege in the future will depend upon their behavior.

The councilmen, no doubt, were under heavy pressure from those who want to make a picnic out of football attendance to kill a proposed ordinance banning liquor and beer in bottles and cans at future games. We think the Council acted wisely in postponing this decision for a time. It is a difficult decision to make because it imposes penalties upon those who behave themselves as well as upon those who violate the rules of good conduct. It is quite certain that those who were guilty of misconduct at the Baltimore game were but a very small minority of even that portion of the crowd that had carried in its own beer.

Ordinances providing punishment should be selective when it is possible. In this instance of course the correct ordinance would be one inflicting a penalty upon those who threw beer cans onto the field or poured beer onto the visiting ball players as they left the field. However, such an ordinance would be extremely difficult to enforce and so it is natural that the Council should turn to a wholesale banning of all beer from the field. Quite obviously many of the councilmen were accused immediately of attempting to ban beer from the stands to promote sales by the regular concessionaire. While this quite obviously was not the case, nevertheless in most instances the charge came from people who had committed no offense and who are perfectly capable of carrying a six-pack onto the field, enjoying themselves and leaving in a quiet and orderly manner.

As City Attorney Nier pointed out, it is quite probable that most of the disturbance was caused by fans who came to the field in caravans of buses who had been consuming liquor in one form or another on the long trip to the stadium and had huge supplies of it carried into the stadium for them. Most of them are from outside of Green Bay. Many of them come from long distances and probably had no way of influencing Green Bay councilmen.

Aside from the right of people to enjoy beer at the Packer games it should be remembered that the city is responsible for maintaining good order in the stadium and for providing a safe place for people to view the games. That is an important duty which cannot be evaded. Thus those persons who do enjoy bringing a six-pack to the game and who want this privilege continued should not only conduct themselves properly at the games, but they should also exert whatever influence they may have upon others to avoid such disgraceful conduct as was recorded at the Baltimore game. If order is not maintained, it is an absolute certainty that the city will take action to maintain it and one of their first moves may mean a ban on beer such as was proposed but which failed of support at the recent Council meeting.

14...STEELERS REPRESENTED: The Steelers, who play host to your Packers Sunday, are well represented in the various individual statistics. Tom (The Bomb) Tracy, the Steels' gritty back who once harmed the Pack as a Lion, ranks right behind Hornung in rushing. He has 170 yards in 78 tries. Bobby Layne, one of the great ones, is fifth in passing. He has hurled eight touchdown passes and completed 57.7 percent of his passes. Layne didn't play last Sunday because of a stoved thumb, and he was to throw for the first time today. It's a sure bet Bobby will play Sunday. He said yesterday he "can't stand to be on the sidelines during a game. In a game, once it starts, the tension wears off but on the sidelines there is no way to let off steam and tension keeps building. I can see now why coaches get ulcers."...DIAL NAILS 20: Layne's chief receiver has been Buddy Dial, the gift from the Giants, who has nailed 20 for 493 yards. New York gave up on Dial too soon last season and the Steelers welcomed him with open arms. Buddy already has caught five touchdown passes. Those 30 points make him the seventh highest scorer in the league. The Bays will run into some hot punting in Bobby Joe Green, a foot specialist out of Gainesville, Fla. He ranks second in the league with an average of 46.2 on 27 kicks. Dutch Van Brocklin is high with 46.4. The Steelers have a prominent spot in the vital interception department - a second place for Dickie Moegle, the former 49er swiftee. Moegle has intercepted four and returned them for 18 yard. Andy Nelson of Baltimore is high with five...We've had many calls asking about the Bears' tie game and how it affects the Pack. The best answer would seem to be: Wait'll the end of the season. But here's a point: Since ties don't count in NFL percentages, the Bears will be playing 11 games this season and the Packers 12, if the Packers don't get tangled in a tie somewhere along the line. Ties seem to be popular this year. Three of them already!...BRIEFS: Max McGee's five catches vs. the 49ers put him in a tie with Boyd Dowler for the pass receiving lead. Each has 10, with Max gaining 199 yards and Boyd 121...The Packers and Steelers last played a league game in 1957 - in Pittsburgh, and the Bays came out with 27-10 win...Dave Hanner, celebrating his 100th league game - all with the Pack, led the defense with eight tackles Sunday...The Packers enjoyed themselves in practice Tuesday and had much fun shaking off the kinks and bruises of the 49er victory. They finished with the now traditional sprints. The 49er game was history today.

IRATE RED HICKEY CHEWS OUT 49ERS FOR PACKER DEFEAT

OCT 26 (San Francisco) - Coach Red Hickey of the San Francisco 49ers told reporters Tuesday he had a "one-way conversation" with his team about the 41-14 thrashing inflicted by the Green Bay Packers Sunday at Milwaukee. Hickey refused to say what he told his players, telling the reporters his remarks were not printable. Dee Mackey, injured in the Green Bay game, was released from a San Francisco hospital and will join the squad in working out today. It was feared he had suffered a concussion. In an effort to juice up the 49er offense, Hickey announced he was trying Abe Woodson, one-time University of Illinois ball-packing star, on the San Francisco offensive eleven. Heretofore, Woodson has been used exclusively on defense by the 49ers.

NO ATTENDANCE WAR WITH NEW LEAGUE, ROZELLE

OCT 26 (New York) - NFL Commissioner Pete Rozelle says that no war for attendance exists between his league and the new AFL, either at the gate or for a television audience. "I don't feel that the other league has hurt us, or that we have hurt them, in gate competition," he said. The statement came Tuesday in reply to a question regarding a charge made by Harry Wismer, owner of the AFL's New York Titans. He charged that the rival NFL Giants were waging a war and trying to drive

The Path of Least Resistance?—The briar patch in football is so named because of all the thorns, elbows and knees along the way. Packer Fullback Jim Taylor (31, left) is shown just coming out of the patch and almost getting away for a touchdown.

He was hauled down by reaching Gordon Kelley after 14-yard pickup in third quarter. The scattered players are Packers Max McGee 85, Gary Knafelc 84, Forrest Gregg 75, Jim Ringo 51, Bob Skoronski 76 and 49ers Dan Colchico 86, Matt Hazeltine 55, Ed

Henke 75, Charlie Krueger 70, Leo Nomellini 75 and Eddie Dove 44. Taylor gained 98 yards in 20 trips in Packers' 41-14 win. He ranks second in the National Football League's ground gaining race. (Press-Gazette Photo) his club out of business by permitting the televising last Sunday of two National League game into New York. The Titans played Houston at the Polo Grounds, while home TV viewers had the choice of watching Philadelphia at Cleveland and Pittsburgh at Washington in NFL games. At the same time, the weather here was cold and rainy and only an estimated 15,000 showed up for the Titans game while 35,000 had been optimistically forecast. Wismer said he was going to report the matter to three government regulatory agencies and charged that the Giants advertised all week that the game would be on TV so as to discourage people from buying tickets to see the Titans. As a rebuttal, Rozelle said: "The other league is televising games in our area. When the Giants played Washington here two weeks ago, the ABC network wasn't exactly carrying a replay of Peter Gunn from Buffalo," he said. The Titans were playing in Buffalo, and the game was televised by ABC back to New York. "It is standard procedure for them to televise road games back home," he said. Wismer had charged that up to now his club had not offered TV competition while the Giants were at home. The Redskins game was the only home game so far for the Giants. Rozelle defended the televising of games into a rival league's city, both from a legal and commercial standpoint. The Judge Grimm decision a few years ago gave us the right to control the televising of our league games," he said. "It gave us the right to control within 75 miles of an originating telecast and the right to black out the area. The other league is covered by the same ruling and it uses it," he went on. "The telecasting of the Pittsburgh-Washington game was simply the utilization of a market area by the sponsor and is no different than the practices of the AFL." Rozelle said that NFL attendance figures are running ahead of last year, when the league set a record for the eighth consecutive season. In the first four weeks of this season, Rozelle said, 1,271,507 turned out, with last Sunday's 270,206 for six games the best single weekend turnout.

STORY OF THE MANY-SIDED LOMBARDI OF GREEN BAY: MAN, COACH AND TEACHER

OCT 26 (Chicago Tribune) -Jean Nicolet, a French explorer, landed on the shores of Green Bay in 1634. Vince Lombardi, a Brooklyn born Italian, arrived 325 years later. No person since Nicolet, with the possible exception of E.L. (Curly) Lambeau, has stirred this bustling city of 65,000 as has Vincent Thomas Lombardi in these last two autumns. Nicolet discovered Green Bay. Lambeau founded the Green Bay Packers. Lombardi, a sober, kindly man with an explosive temper, orbited the Packers from their worst season in history to contention in the NFL. "I'm no miracle man," Lombardi said somberly after his demands for a five-year contract as general manager-head coach were met by the Packers executive Vince Lombardi as he looked as a guard on the Fordham university teams of 1934-35-36. Lombardi was one of the members of the famed Seven Blocks of Granite.

Story of the Many-Sided Lombardi of Green Bay: Man, Coach, and Teacher

(TRIBUNE Photo)

Lombardi the coach. He is a disciplinarian, having learned under Col. Earl (Red) Blaik at West Point.

(TRIBUNE Photo)

Lombardi the man. He is many things—quiet, loud, introspective, self effacing, confident, and courteous.

committee following the disastrous 1958 season. Lombardi then produced a miracle. This is the story of how he did it...HE'S QUIET; HE'S LOUD: This is the story of Vince Lombardi, the man. He is a quiet man. He is a loud man. He is a violent extrovert. He is fretfully introspective. He is self-effacing, yet confident, courteous but candid. This is the story of Vince Lombardi, the coach. He employs military methods. Experience as assistant to Col. Earl (Red) Blaik at West Point shaped Lombardi's coaching concepts and methods irrevocably. He is a disciplinarian, but he does not run a concentration camp. This is the story of Vince Lombardi, the teacher. Lombardi once taught physics and chemistry while attending law school and coaching a New Jersey high school team. He never has stopped teaching. He regards himself as a pedagogue first, a football theorist seconds. These, then, are the ingredients in the success story of Lombardi, whose Packers currently share leadership of the western division of the NFL with the Chicago Bears...VINCE ISN'T PRANKSTER: There is no reservoir of witty, poignant anecdotes about Lombardi. he is a fine host or guest. he laughs with gusto, often loudly. He is extremely courteous. But he is not a prankster or a "character." Lombardi frankly calls himself "an impatient man." He adds, "I have always been restless. I have never been able to decide whether this is a weakness or my greatest strength." Lombardi does not attempt to conceal the similarity between his coaching philosophies and those of Blaik, under whom Lombardi served as backfield coach for six years before going to the New York Giants in 1954, also as an assistant. "No one can become the image of another person and expect to be successful," declared Lombardi. "But there is no doubt that Blaik's influence has been tremendous. In my opinion, Red was the finest coach of his or any other time."...USES CHAIN OF COMMANDS: Lombardi's Packer camp is organized much along the lines of an army platoon. Players do not come to him with requests. They go thru channels, speaking first to one of Lombardi's four assistant coaches. Squad members are expected to abide by the rules - or face disciplinary action from which there is no appeal. "We run a strict house," Lombardi admits. "The boys have a lot of freedom, but certain things are out of order and they know it. For instance, three night spots in Green Bay are off limits. The players are forbidden to frequent them. Not once has this rule been broken...PLAYS NO FAVORITES: A few days after Lombardi opened his first Packer camp in July of 1959, a veteran player missed the 11 p.m. curfew by five minutes. Lombardi met him at the door. "That will cost you $50," the coach said tersely, turning his back and returning to his room. There was no further discussion, and the incident was never again mentioned. Like any good military commanders, Lombardi prides himself on fairness. "We expect immediate and unquestioning obedience," he asserts, "but we play no favorites. You cannot pass out special favors to some and deny the same privileges to others." Lombardi has remarkable insight in dealing with personality problems among his players. He is a master psychologist. Noticing that one newcomer to camp showed a tendency to shy away from the rest of the squad. Lombardi detailed a group of veterans to stay with the boy wherever he went. "We made sure somebody sat with him on the team bus, on airplanes, and at the dinner table. We never let him be by himself. Soon he felt accepted. The change in his personality - and in his football performance - was amazing."...POPULAR WITH PLAYERS: Lombardi enjoys tremendous popularity with Packer players, who willingly forgive an occasional manifestation of temper. "The best thing to do when he is chewing you out," said one player, "is just to be still - mighty still. Pretty soon he'll cool off and five minutes later he won't remember what he was mad about." As general manager of the club, Lombardi is responsible for Happy Tuesday — The Packers' Tuesday practices are usually on the fun side since the short period is used mostly to get enough exercise to work out bumps and bruises of the Sunday game.

Yesterday, Life and Look magazine photographers were on hand to record some "color" for later story. Panel at left shows Look Photographer Frank Bauman, with the Life man in the background, aiming his camera across Coach Vince Lombardi and the squad. Center, Defense Backs John Symank and Jess Whittenton (left to right) sit on their helmets while taking a brief break. Right, Guard Fuzzy

Thurston (left) makes with the jitterbug, or something, while Dan Currie laughs. Packers seek fourth straight win at Pittsburgh Sunday. (P-G Photos by Orvell Peterson)

the club's finances. In matters of money, as in other respects, Vince is capable of extreme reactions. "He'll count those bucks sometimes like they were the last dollars in the world," said an aid. "And then he'll turn right around and shell out for a party for the players and their wives." Nothing is too good, Lombardi believes, for members of the official Packer family, to whom he is warm, almost emotional in his personal dealings. With outsiders, the Packer coach tends to be reserved. Lombardi is painfully conscious of his reputation for explosive outbursts. "I'm deeply flattered to be the subject of a Chicago Tribune series," he told this writer. "Please be kind to me."

Pack Faces No. 1 Offense

Duncan To Quit Canadian Grid; Careers Conflict

VANCOUVER, B. C. (AP)—Randy Duncan, All-America quarterback at Iowa in 1958, says his second season with the British Columbia Lions is his last in professional football.

He was a 1959 draft choice of the National Football League Green Bay Packers.

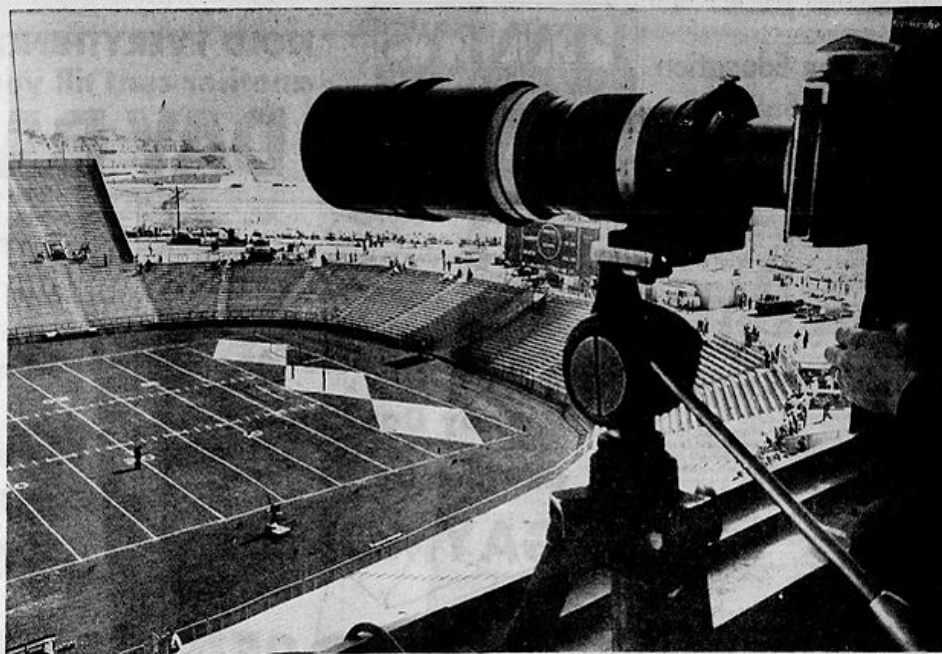

"It's mostly a matter of conflicting careers," Duncan said Wednesday. "I'm working toward my law degree and it's becoming increasingly hard to play football in Canada and study in the States."

Unless he changes his mind, he will play his last game Saturday night when the Lions and the Saskatchewan Roughriders close out the Western Interprovincial Football League season.

PACK FACES NO. 1 OFFENSE

OCT 27 (Green Bay Press-Gazette) - The Packer defense has its work cut out. But good! Pittsburgh's Steelers bobbed up today as the league's leading offensive team. That should make for quite a contest in Forbes Field Sunday because the Packers just happen to be the best defensive team in the league. The Steelers and Packers aren't overall leaders in the Departments of Offense and Defense, respectively. But they lead in some mighty ominous phases of play. Commissioner Pete Rozelle's digit diggers show that the Steelers have gained more yards passing and rushing than any other team - 1,814. Next best is the Colts' 1,786. Both played five games. The Packers gained 1,266 yards in four games. The Steelers also top the league in passing yards - 1,203, one of three four-figure totals in the league. Philadelphia has 1,120, Baltimore 1,136. The Packers' air total is 450 in one less game. The Steelers' percentage of completions is a fancy 54.7, which is among the best in the league. Green Bay's is 41.5. Defensively, the Packers are best where it really counts - on the scoreboard. They have permitted 61 points in four games, an average of around 15. Pitt, for instance, has allowed 116 marks in five games - an average of 23-plus. The Steelers have put up a rugged defense rushing, allowing the foe to just 3.1 yards per carry. The Bay defense, for instance, gave up 4.1. Against passing, however, the Steelers permitted 52.2 percent of the enemy's completions; the Packers 48.4. While the Steelers have been ripping up yards, the Packers have an edge on them in the average of points scored. Art Rooney's team counted 126 in five games, an average of 25.2. The Bays grabbed 118 in four, an average of 29.5...REAL CHALLENGE: Pitt's lofty offensive yardage position can be credited to Bobby Layne, one of football's great quarterbacks. He's a passing and signal calling master. Beating Layne is a real challenge in itself but right now it's touch and go whether old Bobby will play. He sprained his thumb two weeks ago and missed last Sunday's tough tie with Washington. Yesterday in practice, Layne said: "It still hurts and I can't tell whether the thumb is sufficiently healed to play. I haven't thrown a ball all week. I really don't know. It's a big game for us." Rudy Bukich, the onetime Ram, Redskin and Bear, would replace Layne. Bukich, booted around for what seems like years, is due to come into his own. He got a good start last Sunday, completing 16 out of 23 passes for 250 yards and two touchdowns...Lew Carpenter, the Packers' veteran end-halfback, will be opposing his brother, Preston, for the first time in a league game. "It isn't likely that we'll meet

'Big Gun' at City Stadium

Press-Gazette photographers are often asked what type of camera equipment they use to take Packer football pictures from the press box at City Stadium. So here it is, in this picture taken before the start of the Packer-Baltimore Colt game. The "cannon" is a 400-millimeter lens. At the rear of the lens is a 35mm single lens reflex camera, which permits the photographer to view the action right through the lens. With this lens you can take a head-and-shoulder shot at about 25 feet. The man on the field? None other than Coach Vince Lombardi. The picture was made by Orvell Peterson of the Press-Gazette staff.

Brother Battle — The Carpenter brothers, Lew of the Packers and Preston of the Steelers, will meet for the first time in a league game when the two clubs collide in Pittsburgh Sunday. Preston is shown at the left in the Steelers' traveling white jersey. Lew will be wearing the white Sunday; Preston the Steelers' black and gold. Lew is in his seventh pro season; Preston his fifth.

head on," said Lew, "unless he's on the punting team. We're both on punt receiving teams, but I'm not on the punting team." Lew has been playing left end some but don't bet on it. He can play anything on the offensive team, but maybe quarterback and in the interior line. Preston is the Steelers' right end or flanker. Lew is starting his seventh season; Preston his fifth, even though Lew missed a year for service. There is only one year difference in their ages but "I skipped a couple of grades when I was real young." Lew was born Jan. 12, 1933 in West Memphis, Ark., and Preston was born Jan. 24, 1934 in Hayti, Mo. Both went to the University of Arkansas. Lew was the Lions' eighth draft choice in 1953. Preston was the Browns' No. 1 pick in 1956. The Packers' Carpenter, having lived here over a year, is about to purchase a home...The Packers got down to real tough business in Wednesday's sock-em practice. That's the day the pads go on and the athletes hit the charging sled and the blocking dummy. Coach Vince Lombardi called for a passing drill and the emphasis was on catching the ball. The Bays dropped three in the 49er game and two completed passes were ruined by penalties. Yesterday's drill was held in a steady drizzle.

MOORE BEST VANDY PRO PROSPECT EVER, 'BABY'

OCT 27 (Green Bay Press-Gazette) - "I told you," the big man rumbled, "I told you he was the best pro prospect we've had sine I've been there." It was Buford (Baby) Ray, the mountainous former Packer tackle who now tutors the line at Vanderbilt University, genially reminding Packer Business Manager Jack Vainisi of a 1959 conversation as they met outside the visitors' dressing room at Milwaukee's Marquette Stadium last weekend. The subject of their exchange, the gifted Tom Moore, was standing a few yards away, shaking hands with Vanderbilt's Commodores individually as they loped off the field after scuttling Marquette, 23-6, for their first 1960 victory. "We had Phil King (New York Giants) and Bill Wade (Los Angeles Rams) since I took over the line down there in '49," said the man who held forth at left tackle on the Packers' last championship team in 1944, "but Tom's the best we've had. He can play defense, too. He murdered 'em on defense when he was with us and never made a mistake." Though he had predicted major league stardom for the talented Tennessean, Baby admitted, "Tom did surprise me a little bit - I didn't think he'd come that fast." No, he hadn't had an opportunity to see his protege perform on television this season "because Sunday's our busiest day," but Baby was quick to add, "We've got some clippings on him on the board down there, including the one where he made that one-handed catch for a touchdown against the Colts. As a matter of fact, I was just talking to Tom about that one," he continued with a grin. "He said the ball stuck in his hand - said 'I couldn't have dropped it if I wanted to.'" He expressed regret over having to miss Sunday's Packer-49er match, pointing out, "We're flying back to Nashville in the morning before the game. Sunday is our longest day of the week, you know. I leave home at 7:30 in the morning, go out for lunch, then go back and don't get home until 11 o'clock at night." "We have to get to work, we get Clemson next week," he added with a wry grin. "They've got a couple of 250-pound tackles - they're like pros - so we've got to get ready." "Before I go to dinner, though, I'm going to have dinner with Buckets (Goldenberg) at his restaurant tonight," the big one confided. "I called him last night and he invited us out." Baby, who now spreads 260 pounds over that 6-foot, 7-inch frame, 16 more than he carried during his 11-year (1938-48) career with the Packers, admits with a grin that the fringe on top is "getting a little scarce and a little gray." "After all, I have a 19-year old son serving with the Navy in Japan," he revealed. "Named his Donald Lee Ray, after Don Hutson and Bill Lee. He's a radarman aboard the U.S.S. Coral Sea. I also have two daughters, Christy, 16, and Susan, 11." Baby, working over a fat cigar as he talked, pronounced himself happy in Nashville. "It's my hometown. I wouldn't be happy anywhere else but Green Bay. I've only had two jobs in my life, you know, at Vanderbilt and Green Bay," he grinned. It was time for a well deserved shower. Baby shook hands all around and, turning to Moore, said, "Tom, good luck. How do you like Green Bay? Pretty good town, isn't it?"

LOMBARDI'S SECRET? IT'S TEACHING ABILITY

OCT 27 (Chicago Tribune) - Vince Lombardi, the guiding genius of the Green Bay Packers, is simple and concise in discussing football, a frighteningly complex subject. Unlike some other theorists, Lombardi possesses ability to impart his knowledge to players in terms they understand. What is Lombardi's secret? "More than anything else," Vince confides, "it is teaching ability. I fervently believe that a coach must be a pedagogue. You have to pound the lessons into the players by rote just as you teach the ABCs. Repetition on repetition. Never stop repeating the basic points."...WELL QUALIFIED INSTRUCTOR:

Lombardi is well qualified as an instructor. After making his football reputation as a guard at Fordham, Vince went into coaching to finance law studies which he never completed. In the process of winning six football titles in eight years at St. Cecelia High School in Englewood, N.J., he also taught physics and chemistry. "That teaching experience has stood me in good stead throughout my coaching career," Lombardi declares. "As a matter of fact, when I ignored one of the primary axioms of the teaching profession this summer, the mistake was quickly apparent." "The error was this," Lombardi explained. "We assumed that the veterans would remember the lessons of last year. We tried to start in where we had left off in December. It was immediately obvious that even the most experienced veterans had forgotten a lot over the winter. So we began all over again with basic plays."...BATTLE PLAN SIMPLE: Lombardi's battle plan upon taking the Packer helm in February of 1959 was simple. "We had to install the desire to win. I don't know how it is possible to make this statement without sounding trite, but that was our objective and that, we believe, was our primary accomplishment in the 1959 season. The holdovers had to be taught that victory was probable, not impossible. We simply had to get rid of those players who clung to the team's former defeatist attitude." Lombardi's ax swung quickly and with authority. Among the first to go was Billy Howton, veteran offensive end...HOWTON WAS EXAMPLE: "This was a calculated gamble," Lombardi admits. "We had to take a chance that other fellows on our squad could fill the pass catching duties. Billy was a fine end, but we felt he had the wrong attitude. So we made an example of him." Lombardi, master of offensive strategy under Coach Jim Lee Howell of the New York Giants, turned his attention almost exclusively to defense

Green Bay vs. Green Bay—Dick (Soup) Campbell, the former West High football star, will play against the Packers in a league game for the first time when they battle the Steelers in Pittsburgh Sunday. Campbell was Pittsburgh's 10th draft choice in 1957 and he's now in his third Steeler season. Soup will start at an outside linebacker spot.

ers in Pittsburgh Sunday. Campbell was Pittsburgh's 10th draft choice in 1957 and he's now in his third Steeler season. Soup will start at an outside linebacker spot.

upon his arrival in Green Bay. "It is well accepted that the great ball clubs are the ones built on defense," continues Lombardi. "I can hear Red Blaik, my boss at Army, saying this as if it were yesterday: 'There is nothing more discouraging to a bunch of players than sitting on the bench watching some other team run roughshod over your defense.'...DEFENSE HELPS MORALE: "In other words, even if you have offensive ability - great offensive ability - you need a strong defense for morale purposes." Among Lombardi's early defensive acquisitions were Bill Quinlan, Henry Jordan, Bobby Freeman and Emlen Tunnell. These players, along with such holdovers as Dan Currie, Forrest Gregg, Jim Ringo, Paul Hornung, Jerry Kramer, and Dave Hanner, became the nucleus around which Lombardi fashioned the Packers' 7-5 record of 1959. Quarterbacking, an immediate problem, has ceased to be a nightmare for Lombardi, principally because of the development of Lamar McHan, who never realized his potential in five years with the Chicago Cardinals. Lombardi's reclamation job on the former Arkansas star must be recorded as one of the great coaching achievements in recent years. His competitive appetite whetted by his coach's example, McHan this autumn has displaced Bart Starr as the Packers' No. 1 quarterback...LAUDS COACHING STAFF: Lombardi believes his coaching staff of Phil Bengtson, Red Cochran, Bill Austin and Norb Hecker is the finest in the NFL. "Our coaches have no secrets from each other," Lombardi states proudly. "Nothing - absolutely nothing - is ever done by one of our coaches without the full knowledge of every one of the others. If our offensive coach (Cochran) has an idea for a play, the first thing he does is talk it over with our defensive man (Bengtson)." Underlying everything Lombardi says and does is a fierce determination to excel. This determination, plus Lombardi's tremendous coaching ability, has stamped the Packers with the mark of class. It recently prompted George Halas of the Chicago Bears. "In one year, Vince Lombardi has proved himself a skilled craftsman in the most highly specialized game in the world."

Steelers' Campbell, Layne Pointing for Packers Sunday

STEELERS' CAMPBELL, LAYNE POINTING FOR PACKERS SUNDAY

OCT 28 (Green Bay Press-Gazette) - Dick Campbell, a linebacker, and Bobby Layne, a quarterback, have been pointing for the Packers in Pittsburgh Sunday a long time - probably since the schedule came out last spring. These two Steelers have their own reasons. Campbell is from Green Bay. Soup was a star at West High; he loved the Packers ever since he was old enough to lift a helmet. Layne hasn't faced the Packers in a league game since he made a rather unhappy showing as a Lion in a 13-13 tie game in City Stadium in 1958. That game always irked Layne; he wants even. The day after that game he was traded from the shadow of Tobin Rote to Pittsburgh. Campbell was all-state and all-Fox Valley center and linebacker at West in 1951-52-53. He went on to stardom at Marquette and was ticketed for an All-American rating when he ran into injuries. The Steelers picked him on the 10th draft round and he's now in his third season as a regular Steeler linebacker. Campbell has played steady football for the Steelers but you can be he'll be at his highest and level best against the team he grew up with. There's another reason: Sunday is his mother's birthday. Mrs. Frances Campbell, 415 N. Maple Ave., doesn't have to say what she'd like from her son except this: "I'm sorry but I'll have to pull for the Steelers Sunday. I know many of the Packer players and I've told them all how I feel. Otherwise, I'm a good Packer fan." Mrs. Campbell said she'll watch the game on television but "I'd sure like to go." She has seen Dick play several times as a pro, including the exhibition against the Packers in Minneapolis a year ago...LAYNE WON 16: While Layne was miserable in his last league showing here (the Bays beat him twice since in exhibitions), Bobby really is a Packer killer. Green Bay met up with Layne in 20 league games, but the Bays won only three times. He won out 16 times and one game ended in a tie. It got so all Bobby had to do was roll his helmet on the mound and the Green Bay bats went quiet. This is a new Packer team, of course, and Layne is with his fourth pro team since 1948 but Layne still ranks as one of the few "great ones." Despite an injured thumb, Layne will be on the firing line Sunday. The Packers first met up with Layne in 1948 when he was one of the "L-raisers" with the Bears, the others being Sid Luckman and Johnny Lujack. The Bears won both games that year, with Layne playing in each. He was traded off to the New York Bulldogs in 1949 and the Bays downed Ted Collins' old club, and Layne, by 18-0...TRADED TO DETROIT: Layne was traded to Detroit in 1950, and led the Lions to 10 straight wins over the Pack in five years. Layne and the Pack split in 1955-56 but he won both in '57. The Packers have never met Layne as a Steeler. They beat the Steels, then quarterbacked by Earl Morrall, in 1957 by 27-10. Coach Buddy Parker, who coached Layne at Detroit earlier, grabbed Layne in a hurry in '58, sending Morrall to Detroit as part of the deal...Coach Vince Lombardi knows personally how tough the Steelers can be. As backfield coach of the Giants, he experienced 10 games vs. Pitt in five seasons. The Giants made off with six wins in the period. New York won two in 1954, Vince's first year; two in 1956; and then split in 1957-58. Pitt won two in '55...That famous word, prestige, can be injected into today's message. The Packers will have to uphold the prestige of the Western Division, when they battle the Steelers. It has been lagging, you know. The Eastern block plays the West in only six games (one apiece) this season, not counting Dallas, which plays everybody once as a member of the Western loop. Four of those games have been played thus far and the East won three of them - Eagles over Lions 28-10, Cardinals over Rams 43-21, and the Giants over 49ers 21-19. In the fourth, the Colts downed the Redskins 20-0. After the Packer-Steeler game, the inter-league phase will be finished when the Bears battle the Browns Dec. 11 in Cleveland. Victories by the Pack and Bears would set the inter-office record at 3-3 and restore the West's wavering prestige...The Packers will leave for Pittsburgh at 9 o'clock Saturday morning from Austin Straubel Field in a chartered United Airlines plane. They'll arrive about 1 o'clock and work out briefly in Forbes Field. The team will headquarter at the Carlton House. The Packers will fly right out after the game and arrive here about 7:50 Sunday night.

LOMBARDI EXPLOITS OPPONENTS' POWER

OCT 28 (Chicago Tribune) - Vince Lombardi's eyes gleamed behind horn rimmed glasses as he sat at his desk in Green Bay Packer headquarters and talked football. "Have you hear of a team exploiting its

Post-Crescent News Service Photo
Green Bay's Forrest Gregg, one of the premier offensive tackles in pro football, will be aiming his 6-foot-4, 250-pound frame at Pittsburgh Steeler defenders Sunday. The Southern Methodist University product is playing his fourth season of National Football league ball.

opponents' weaknesses?" asked the man who brought the Packers from football obscurity in a season. "Our strategy is the opposite. We break down our opponents at their strongest points! The reason is simple: There is no more effective way to destroy your opponent's poise than to prove you can move against what he considers his strongest suit. Beat him at his strength and his weaknesses become more apparent."...SUCCESS ISN'T SURPRISING: Lombardi's coaching achievement in Green Bay has not surprised those who have followed the amazing career of the stocky, scholarly mentor. Success has pursued Lombardi like a tax collector. After winning distinction as one of Fordham's famed "seven blocks of granite," Lombardi became coach at St. Cecelia High School in Englewood, N.J., at one point running up 36 consecutive victories. As backfield coach for Army and then the New York Giants, Vince earned the reputation as a brilliant, craft strategist. Lombardi outlined the play by which the Giants beat the Cleveland Browns, 10 to 0, in the playoff for the 1958 NFL eastern division title. Noticing that Bob Gain, Cleveland defensive tackle, moved out of position to follow quarterback Charley Conerly of the Giants after handoffs, Lombardi put in a play to exploit Gain's shift...COACHES BASIC FOOTBALL: The maneuver worked. With the ball on the Browns' 18, Conerly handed off to Alex Webster, who handed to Frank Gifford. Gifford lateraled to Conerly, completing the double reverse, and Conerly ran for a touchdown. Lombardi candidly admits that the 1960 Packers are not ready for shenanigans. "In Green Bay," Vince says, "I coach basic football, not boring football, I hope, but fundamental strategy. Astute fans will notice that the Packers do not do all of the things we asked the Giants to do. It is a mistake to attempt to mold personnel to a system. The system must be molded to the players. Frankly, I do not like the three-end system of offense (an end replaces a back). I prefer a system in which three backs are employed. But we use the three-end system because it is better fitted for our present personnel."...ALWAYS SEEKS PERFECTION: Lombardi, a keen judge of football talent, often will detect minute flaws in technique which escape less observant coaches. Red Cochran, Lombardi's backfield coach, tells this one on his boss: "During a game last year, Vince noticed that one of our quarterbacks was grasping the ball too hard on pass plays. Vince told him to loosen up, to throw the ball instead of trying to knock down the goal posts. You have seen the difference." Cochran believes Lombardi's outstanding trait as a coach is his desire for perfection. "Nearly all successful coaches are good organizers, as is Vince," says Cochran. "But few Ambush?

NATIONAL FOOTBALL LEAGUE
(Eastern Division)

	W	L	T	Pct.	PS	OP
New York	3	0	1	1.000	99	74
Philadelphia	4	1	0	.800	141	132
Cleveland	3	1	0	.750	146	82
Pittsburgh	2	2	1	.500	126	116
Washington	1	1	2	.500	77	85
St. Louis	2	3	0	.400	110	124

(Western Division)

	W	L	T	Pct.	PS	OP
GREEN BAY	3	1	0	.750	118	61
Chicago	3	1	1	.750	109	117
Baltimore	3	2	0	.600	131	89
San Francisco	2	3	0	.400	70	108
Detroit	1	3	0	.250	59	87
Los Angeles	0	4	1	.000	98	145
Dallas	0	5	0	.000	84	148

Sunday's Games

GREEN BAY at PITTSBURGH
(WJPG, WBAY-TV, 1:00)
Chicago at San Francisco
Baltimore at Dallas
Cleveland at Washington
Detroit at Los Angeles
St. Louis at New York
Philadelphia, bye

* * *

Probable Offensive Starters

GREEN BAY		PITTSBURGH
McGee	LE	Brewster
Skoronski	LT	James
Thurston	LG	Sandusky
Ringo	C	Beatty
J. Kramer	RG	Nisby
Gregg	RT	Varrichione
Knafelc	RE	P. Carpenter
McHan	QB	Layne
Hornung	LH	Tracy
Dowler	RH	Dial
Taylor	FB	Johnson

* * *

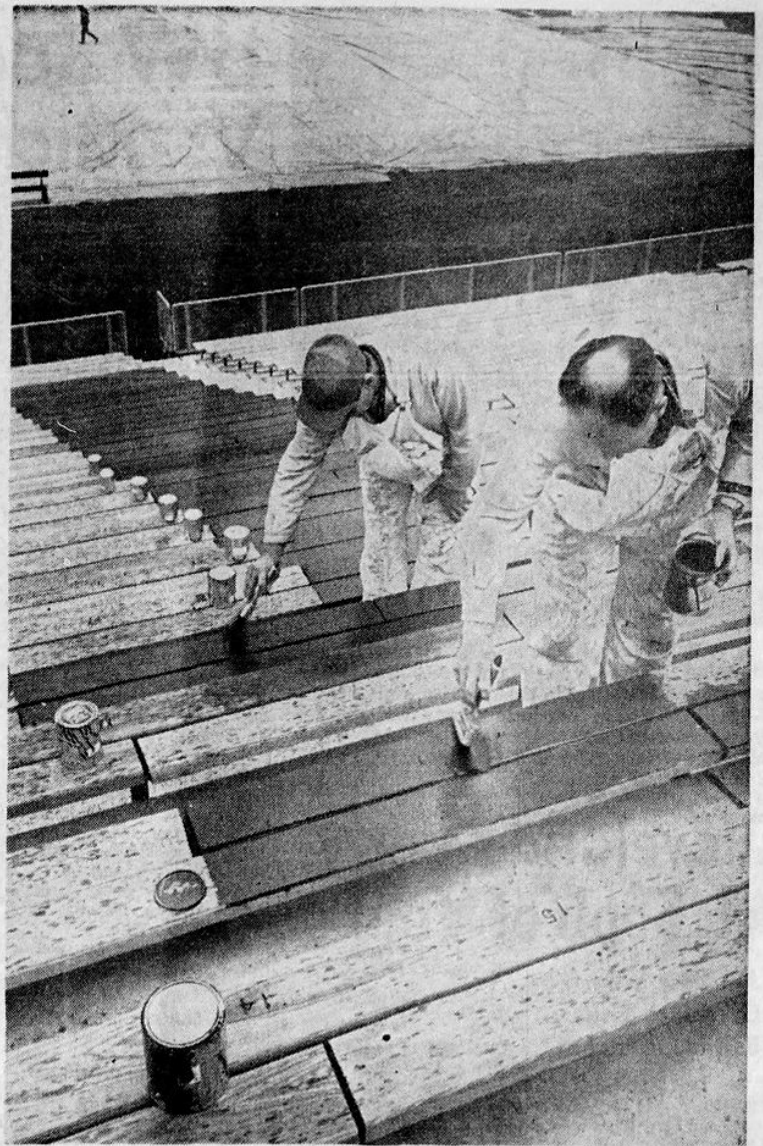

Green Bay-Pittsburgh Series
Green Bay Won 11, Pittsburgh Won 6; none tied. Points: Green Bay 423, Pittsburgh 271.

have his tenacity. He outshines all other coaches I have worked with in desire for perfection." When Lombardi came to Green Bay, he was distressed by the Packers' local reputation as night owls. One story making the round particularly irritated Lombardi...TRACES RUMOR THRU: The gossip concerned Paul Hornung, halfback from Notre Dame. Lombardi painstakingly checked the story thru, found Hornung innocent, and then. "I appeared at dozens of luncheons and banquets that winter," Lombardi recalls, "and at every one of them I made it a point to mention the story and then to declare that I had evidence which exonerated Hornung. I want my boys known as football players, not socialites." Lombardi detests informing a player he is traded or released. "Vince can get tougher than any coach I have ever seen when he thinks some boy is not giving 100 percent effort," said Talent Scout Jack Vainisi. "On the other hand, he sometimes breaks down emotionally when he has to release a player." When Lombardi traded Bobby Freeman, halfback from Auburn, to Philadelphia before the current season opened, he encouraged Freeman to seek a salary raise from the Eagles "because you are a good football player." When the Packer coach deemed it necessary to release Howie Ferguson, veteran fullback, because of crippling injuries, Lombardi reached for his checkbook and Ferguson left camp with a smile...LITTLE FREE TIME: Alex Hawkins was different. Hawkins, the Packers' No. 2 draft choice last year, failed to measure up to Lombardi's standards and was sent to the Baltimore Colts. "I'm doing a favor," Lombardi reportedly told Hawkins. "You're too cocky for our team. I'm sending you away so you can learn to be a football player." Lombardi's dedication to coaching leaves him little time for outside pursuits. He worked thru the winter layoff without a vacation. "I hope to get a little time off next winter," he says with a rueful grin. When he took over the Packers, Lombardi told friends, "I've never been with a losing team." He still hasn't.

PACK DUELS STEELS, EYES 4TH STRAIGHT

OCT 29 (Pittsburgh-Green Bay Press-Gazette) - How good are the Packers? They have a 3-1 record - enough to technically tie the Bears (3-1-1) at the head of the Western Division class. They have a three-game winning streak going and their last two victories were at the expense of the world champion Colts 35-21 and the 49ers 41-14 just last Sunday. That was the Colts' first loss and it was the 49ers' third setback, just about knocking the San Francisco club out of the running. Now, the Packers must hand another team its critical third loss. They'll make the attempt against the Steelers in Forbes Field here Sunday afternoon. The Steelers have more than two losses since they absorbed a damaging tie against Washington last Sunday. Pitt has whipped the Cowboys and Cardinals and lost to the Browns and Giants. A crowd of around 25,000 will witness the inter-league battle, although it could higher with sunshine and warmth. Kickoff is set for 1:05, Packerland time. The Packers are favorites in some quarters to win by a point or two. The folks out here claim the Steelers will ambush the Pack. They've been waiting all week for the chance to get back on the track. The experts' faith in Pittsburgh is based somewhat on the ability of quarterback Bobby Layne, sore thumb and all, to win in the clutch. The "great one" is toughest when the going gets rough. The Packers will be rough...Squaring away at

Paint Test — The seats at City Stadium will be painted for the 1961 season but the problem for the City of Green Bay is trying to find the best paint. The picture shows Painters Pat O'Connell (front) and E. J. Brozyna applying the different brands of paint from numbered cans. The painted areas will be inspected next spring to see how the paint "stood" the winter. The brands then will be resumed and the City will know which paint to purchase. Speckles on the seats are rain drops. (Press-Gazette Photo)

Pack Duels Steels, Eyes 4th Straight

Layne, not to mention his aide, Rudy Bukich, will be quite an opportunity for the Bays' tigerish defense. This proud unit has given the great John Unitas, John Brodie and Y.A. Tittle much trouble in the last two games. The noted Layne is a real prize. Layne is a passing quarterback, but he's also like a coach on the field. The best way to handle him is to keep him rushed. That puts it up to Bill Quinlan, Willie Davis, Dave Hanner, Hank Jordan and linebackers Bill Forester, Tom Bettis and Dan Currie. Layne mixes his passing with dangerous draw plays featuring John Henry Johnson and Tom Tracy. Bobby can also run, but not like Unitas. If anything, the Steelers defense hasn't been up to its usual par. The unit has allowed 116 points in five games - an average of 23.3. Pitt had normally stayed around 18...Green Bay's offense has improved every game - 14 on the Bears, 28 on the Lions, 35 on the Colts and 41 on the 49ers. Coach Vince Lombardi wouldn't complain a bit if the Bays continued to increase their pointage again. That isn't exactly in the cards. However, the Packers hope to blend their passing and rushing again. They stacked up 455 yards against the 49ers, and it was the first time the club had put together their aerial and ground games. Lamar McHan, who played many times against the Steelers as a Cardinal, will start his fourth straight game. His big gunners will be Jim Taylor and Paul Hornung, but he has two more waiting benchside - Tom Moore and Larry Hickman. Moore scored two TDs last week in relief of Hornung. Hickman looked good in his brief stint last Sunday and has been doing real well in drills. Standing in the Pack's ground way Sunday will be Dick Campbell, the former Green Bay West star, who is a regular Steeler linebacker...Passing may be the key to the Pack's success Sunday. That puts it up to McHan and Max McGee, Boyd Dowler and Gary Knafelc - not to mention the other three ends, Ron Kramer, Lew Carpenter and Steve Meilinger. The Packers are staying at the Carlton House here. They'll fly out right after the game, arriving in their United Airlines charter at Austin Straubel Field about 7:50 Sunday night.

SET PRO BOWL CLASH JAN. 15

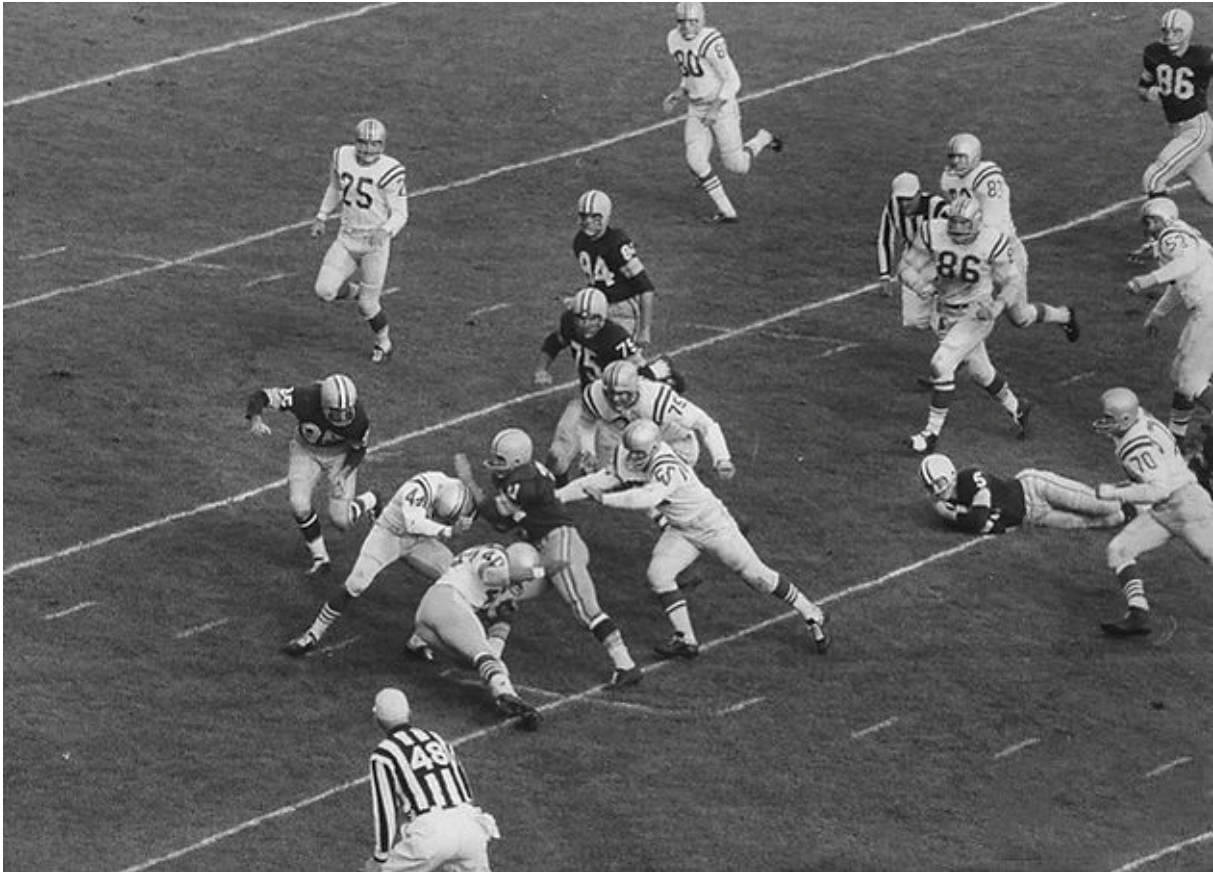

OCT 29 (Los Angeles) - The 11th annual Pro Bowl football game, a clash between selected stars of the western and eastern divisions of the NFL, will be played in Memorial Coliseum Jan. 15. Managing director Paul J. Schissler announced the date today. The western division leads in the series 6-4, thanks to a 38-21 victory registered by a squad led by Baltimore's Johnny Unitas last year. Each squad is picked by league coaches in conjunction with Commissioner Pete Rozelle's office. Unitas was named player of the game and his teammate, Gene (Big Daddy) Lipscomb, was picked as lineman of the game last year.

[TRIBUNE Photo]
Lombardi discovered this summer that even veterans need work on basic plays before the season. Here he is with Veteran Ends Boyd Dowler (86) and Steve Meilinger.

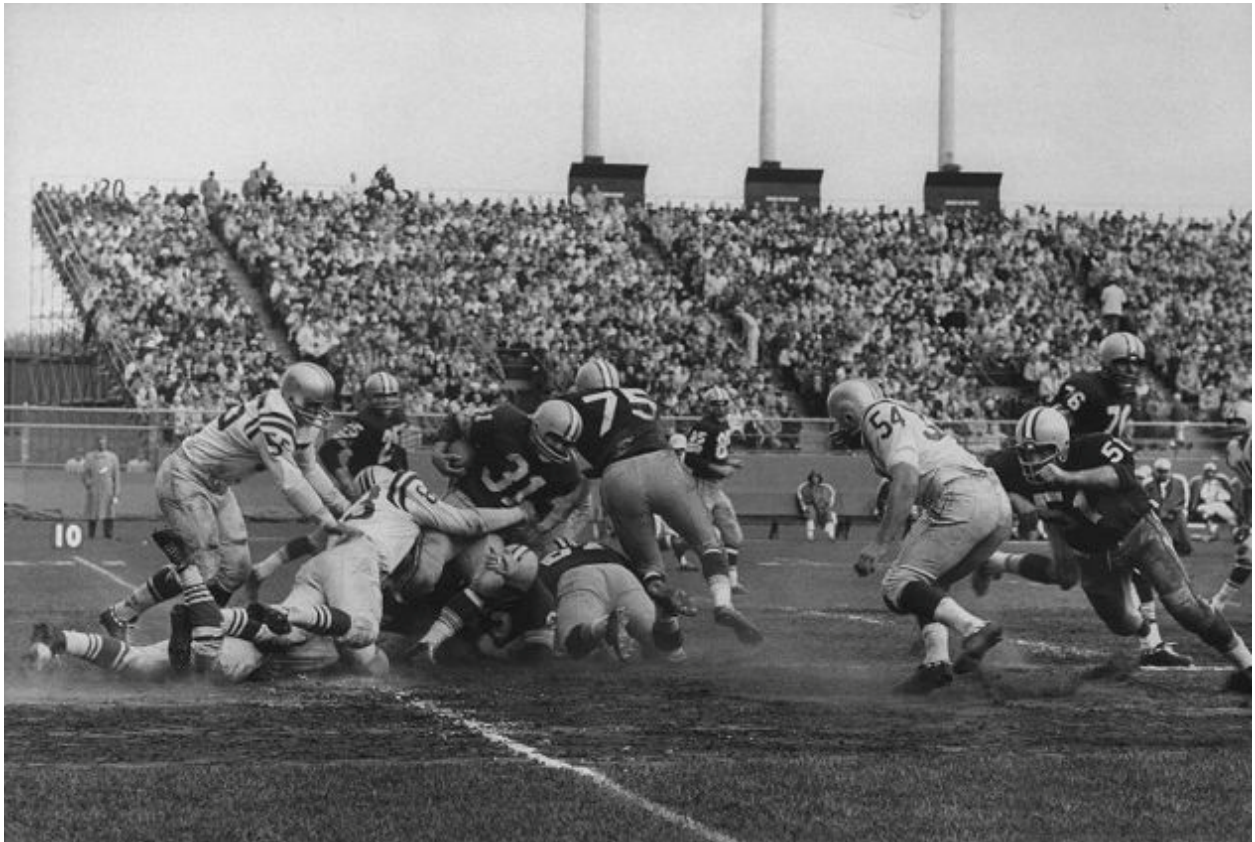

Coach Vince Lombardi with Paul Hornung, former Notre Dame star whom Lombardi helped mold into star halfback with revitalized Green Bay Packer team. [TRIBUNE Photo]

Packers' running back Jim Taylor gains a couple of yards against the San Francisco 49er defense. (Source: Packerville.com)

Several players including Hank Gremminger (#46) stop a San Francisco player from advancing upfield. (Source: Packerville.com)

Jim Taylor runs against the San Francisco 49er defense. (Source: Packerville.com)

[TRIBUNE Photo]

Vince Lombardi, who credits teaching ability for his success as a coach, with one of the Green Bay Packers' rookies—Tom Moore, fullback from Vanderbilt.

Statistics of N. F. L. Play

TEAM OFFENSE

	San			Los				Gr.			New	St.
	Dallas	Balt.	Fran.	Chi.	Wash.	Cleve.	Ang.	Det.	Pitts.	Bay	York	Louis
Games	5	5	5	5	4	4	5	4	5	4	4	5	5
First Dns.	74	101	93	86	64	77	77	52	87	83	76	88	88
Rushing	20	33	37	35	26	45	30	22	31	55	22	47	30
Passing	44	60	45	46	33	28	37	28	50	23	43	37	50
By pen.	10	8	11	5	5	4	10	2	6	5	11	4	8
Yds. gain.	1407	1786	1363	1649	1071	1557	1106	1080	1814	1266	1292	1617	1757
Rushing	421	650	651	695	436	863	530	488	611	816	428	842	637
Passing	986	1136	712	954	635	694	576	592	1203	450	864	775	1120
No. rushes	126	147	168	171	147	154	143	116	169	164	128	183	158
Ave. rush.	3.3	4.4	3.9	4.1	3.0	5.6	3.7	4.2	3.6	5.0	3.3	4.6	4.0
Passes att'd.	145	159	160	130	88	68	131	108	117	82	119	143	132
Pass comp.	65	80	83	63	52	49	68	52	64	34	60	52	76
Pct. com.	44.8	50.3	51.9	48.5	59.1	72.1	51.9	48.1	54.7	41.5	50.4	36.4	57.6
Yds. p.	1108	1205	848	1079	787	793	763	645	1234	478	910	851	1128
Yds. lst. pas.	122	69	136	125	152	99	187	53	31	28	46	76	8
No. intcpt.	16	9	3	13	3	0	9	6	6	4	7	14	11
Yds. ret. by	170	155	52	261	11	0	37	52	70	99	70	207	142
Op. td. int.	1	1	0	1	0	0	0	0	0	0	0	0	1
No. punts	23	16	22	22	20	18	29	23	27	15	16	18	19
Ave. dist.	42.8	38.9	44.3	42.4	41.3	44.8	43.4	45.4	46.2	43.5	39.7	44.7	46.4
Ret. by	9	9	17	12	5	9	9	7	11	9	7	16	9
Ave. ret.	12.3	4.2	7.7	6.3	5.6	7.9	5.6	4.0	5.9	4.1	3.3	7.8	4.1
Ret. TD.	0	0	0	0	0	0	0	0	0	0	0	0	0
Kick-off ret.	31	19	22	21	17	14	23	15	19	13	9	23	28
Ave. ret.	17.5	25.4	22.2	24.1	22.8	21.5	24.0	18.1	22.1	25.8	19.4	27.0	19.9
Ret. TD	0	1	0	0	0	1	0	0	0	0	0	0	0
No. penalties	22	19	31	38	28	21	28	24	32	28	21	20	21
Yds. pen.	211	222	288	306	334	254	260	270	320	258	189	209	201
Fumbles	6	4	7	10	9	5	9	3	6	3	15	18	9
Own rec'd.	1	1	3	6	5	4	4	1	3	0	5	7	4
Op. fumb.	9	9	4	5	9	7	10	4	12	6	8	14	7
Op. rec'd.	4	3	3	4	5	5	4	2	7	4	4	11	4
Touchdowns	11	17	8	14	8	19	12	5	16	16	13	13	18
TD, running	3	8	2	6	4	13	7	4	3	13	4	6	6
TD, passing	8	9	6	8	4	6	5	1	13	3	9	7	12
Ex. points	9	17	8	13	8	17	11	5	15	16	13	13	18
Fld. goals	3	4	4	4	7	5	5	8	5	2	2	5	5
Fld. G. att.	6	10	15	8	11	7	8	11	10	6	6	10	9
Tot. points	84	131	70	109	77	146	98	59	126	118	99	110	141

At Home . . . In Your Car
Tune in

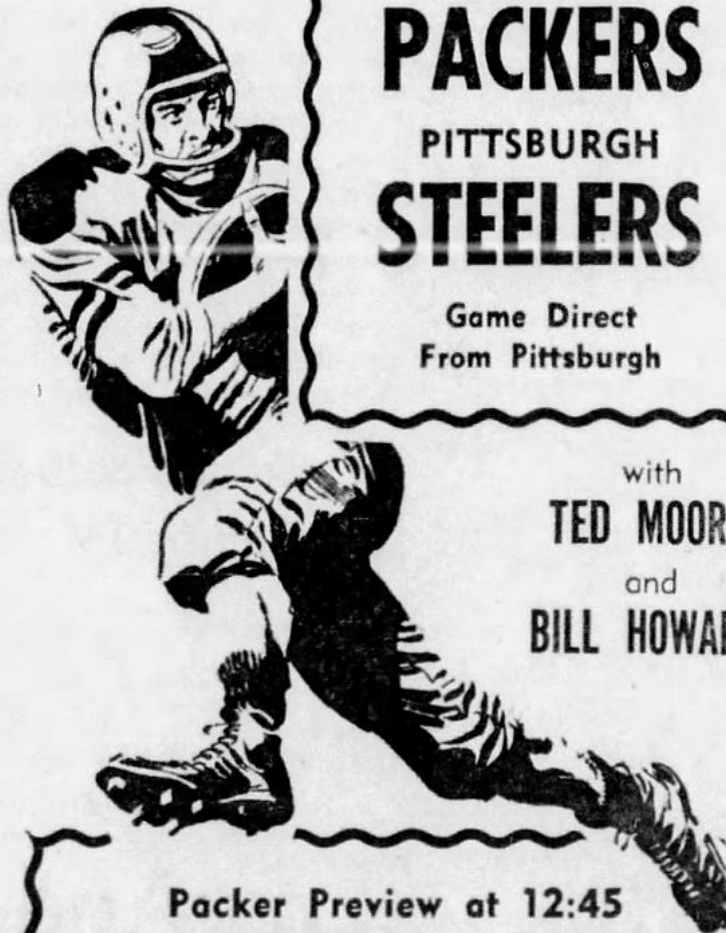

WJPG

SUNDAY, 1 P.M.

for the

GREEN BAY
PACKERS
PITTSBURGH
STEELERS

Game Direct
From Pittsburgh

with
TED MOORE and
BILL HOWARD

Packer Preview at 12:45

on

WJPG DIAL
1440

Northern Wisconsin's Big Sports Station